A NOTE FROM THE DIRECTOR

FINDLAY-HANCOCK COUNTY PUBLIC LIBRARY

Dear Friends,

This time of year, many in our community are focused on the return to school. While we have a plethora of resources for the back to school set, we're also here to support lifelong learning in our community. In fact, one area of focus for the library's current strategic plan is adult, teen and family literacy.

I think the concept of literacy is often reduced to its most basic form: the ability to read something and understand it. That is certainly a critical life skill. The library supports new readers from our youngest patrons checking out beginning reader books to adults taking part in our Read for Life program to build their literacy skills.

However, Oxford Languages also defines literacy as "competence or knowledge in a specified area." Considered this way, it's likely we each have areas where we could use a little help building our literacy.

As my family will attest, my culinary literacy could use some work. Fortunately, there's no shortage of resources at the library to help. The monthly Spice World program always includes a few cooking tips in the handout. That's how I learned you are supposed to rinse rice before you cook it. Before canning our garden tomatoes, I checked recipes from the library's cookbook collection and watched a video on the Creativebug database.

Learning how to properly cook rice or can tomatoes might not seem like great strides in building literacy, but these small efforts in lifelong learning make a big difference at our dinner table. As you see students heading off to start the new school year this fall, why not follow their lead and do a little lifelong learning of your own? You never know what small skill could make a big difference in your life.

NATIONAL LIBRARY CARD SIGN-UP MONTH

September is National Library Card Sign-up Month, a time when the Findlay-Hancock County Public Library joins the American Library Association (ALA) and libraries nationwide to remind parents, caregivers, and students that signing up for a library card is the first step on the path to academic achievement and lifelong learning.

There is nothing more empowering than signing up for your own library card. Through access to technology, media resources, and educational programs, a library card gives students the tools to succeed in the classroom and provides people of all ages opportunities to pursue their dreams. Reading gives you all the super powers you need!

Libraries offer everything from early literacy programs to homework help and GED classes, helping transform lives and communities through education. To learn more about the library's resources and programs, please visit www.findlaylibrary.org.

“A library card provides opportunity for discovery and access to a rich and diverse world. It empowers you to make change and experience new stories.”

— Marley Dias
National Library Card
Sign-Up Month
Honorary Chair

This year, author Marley Dias is taking on a new role as honorary chair of National Library Card Sign-Up Month. In her new role, Dias will promote the value of libraries and encourage everyone to get their very own library card. Be a reading superhero—visit the Findlay-Hancock County Public Library and sign up for a card today!

WHY DO I NEED A LIBRARY CARD?

We have incredible books that may change your life, movies that stir your senses, music that evokes joyful memories of days long past, and digital resources you can use from the comfort of your own home. As if that wasn't enough, here are some more reasons to get a library card today!

Libraries help to strengthen local economies.

- 84% of libraries offer technology training to patrons in computer software use.
- 73.1% of libraries provide programs that help individuals to apply for jobs, create resumes, and prepare for interviews.

Libraries create healthier communities.

- 77% of libraries offer online health resources.
- 58% of libraries provide programs to help people find and evaluate health information.

Libraries are the place for lifelong learning.

- 95% of libraries provide online homework assistance.
- 95% of libraries offer summer reading programs for children.

Library access equals opportunity.

- 100% of libraries offer access to the Internet.
- 98% of libraries offer free Wifi.
- 90% of libraries help patrons with basic Internet skills.
- 97% of libraries help people complete online government forms.
- 90% of libraries offer access to e-books.

The Findlay-Hancock County Public Library appreciates the opportunity to be a part of a lasting tribute that will be enjoyed by the entire community. Patrons often donate to the library to purchase a book(s) for a deceased family member, friend, or co-worker. Other patrons donate to purchase a book(s) in honor of retirements, birthdays, anniversaries, and special occasions.

Donors may suggest specific titles or subjects for memorials/honorariums or allow our professional selectors to choose appropriate items. A special bookplate will be placed in each donated book identifying the person being memorialized or honored, as well as the name of the donors.
